By Newsy

Readers whose hearts were touched by the story last week of little Alan Lowder and his lost bike will be relieved to know that the bike got back home safely on Friday. Ross and Kay Crabtree found such a vehicle on their premises at Lincoln and Hansen rd., and returned it to Alan after proper identification. Needless to say, the youngster was overjoyed.

We wanted to tell you about the strange coincidence in connection with the first call to use the volunteer firemen's new resuscitator. Our "regular" job is in the News office at Buena Park. (Our big-hearted "boss" brother permits us work on the Enterprise two mornings a week and Saturday, Sundays and nights!) The society editor for the News, Mrs. Fred Dukes was on the phone talking to an Anaheim number when a voice interrupted asking for the line, saying her baby had convulsions. Mrs. Dukes and Mrs. Pelous hung up immediately, thank goodness, and didn't take any chances on the request being a "gag." When there are so many occasions that a misuse of the line is reported, we thought it encouraging to note this instance of good citizenship.

By popular demand (!) following the printing of our nephew story, we'll tell you a niece one this week. Joan Kroesen is five years old and lives in Buena Park. Just before Christmas we drove to a neighboring town on the east to do a little window-shopping. We were hardly out of the car, when we approached a corner drugstore with life-size cardboard figures of the jolly one and his helper dwarfs in an attractive display. The excited Joan called out, "O-o-o-h, l-o-o-k-e-e! hTere's Santay Claus and his nephews!"

We were eligible again this year to attend the annual convention meeting in San Diego of the California Newspaper Publishers association, which we did on Friday in the company of our brothers Paul and Dale. We spend most of the time following introductions to new people we meet that we are their sister, and not the wife of one of them. This year we ducked out on the duty-bound angle, and attended the fashion luncheon at noon, which is dearer to our feminine heart. Friday night is always "family night", at which the governor and his wife and sometimes members of his own family are present. This year was no exception. Lucky Dale, the more affluent member of the Kroesen tribe, attended the entire convention, and the last time we saw him on Friday night he was conversing with a "California cutie"—none other than the charming Miss Dorothy Warren. We'll be careful not to let the "Colorado cutie" get hold of this issue of the Enterprise!

ARRANGE DEFINITE CORPS SCHEDULE

Another change has been announced in the meeting night for the medical corps of the Cypress Civil Defense program. The first Thursday night in the month has been decided upon.

Although there has been some disruption in its schedule due to difficulty in arranging for meetings, the corps is trained and stands ready to help in time of an emergency, according to the leaders.

Station Wagon Plan Revealed At Comm. Club

Festive arrangements by the committee in charge of the annual valentine party for members of the Cypress Women's community club and their guests made for a pleasant affair in the Job Denni home at 9512 Juanita street Tuesday.

Mrs. Denni was assisted in hostess duties for the pot luck luncheon by Mrs. Leo Smith, Mrs. Ralph Scally and Mrs. Carolina Johnson. Twenty-eight members and one guest, Miss Marian Hammond, shared the courtesies.

Mrs. Thelma Essex presided at the business meeting. It was decided that $1000 would be put into a separate bank fund. This sum will be set aside for "Park Improvement" and used at a later date. Plans to purchase a station wagon were explained.

Ambulance Planned

Through information released by A. E. Arnold, chief of the Cypress Volunteer Fire department, members of clubs and groups represented on the Coordinating council are being advised of plans to purchase a station wagon. The station wagon will be equipped with facilities to carry the rescuscitator recently acquired by the department, and will also be fully outfitted as an ambulance.

It is being explained that the ambulance will be for the use of members of the community. In case a need arises, a call may be put through to the fire station, just as is done now in case of a fire or for the rescucitator. This service will be free.

In order to raise funds, an intensive ticket sale is being arranged. Each organization will donate $10 toward the purchase of prizes which will be given away at a drawing to be held in June of this year.

Mrs. Essex was the lucky winner of the mystery prize. Secret pals for the past year were revealed and new names drawn. Several new names were voted upon. Mrs. Carl Sanders was accepted into membership at the meeting.

Mrs. Earl Siples suffered a slight stroke Tuesday morning. She is convalescing at home.

New Library Has Formal Opening Tea

Friends of the Cypress library and distinguished guests were generous in their praise of the spacious new quarters and added improvements afforded patrons when they visited during open house last Monday afternoon and evening.

Amid many flowers and plants sent by well wishers, the library was formally dedicated. Mrs. R. O. King, librarian, greeted the guests, and introduced Mrs. Margaret Morrison, head librarian of the Orange county library and Mrs. Katherine Walton, assistant county librarian. Other guests were Ralph McFadden, third district supervisor and A. E. Arnold, owner of the building and member of the county planning commission.

Serve Tea

Mrs. N. L. Chapman, Mrs. Howard Minnick and Mrs. James Palmer of the Jr. Women's club and Mrs. Harry Smits, Mrs. Clarence Fender and Mrs. Arden Hambly of the local P.T.A. were hostesses when cookies, tea and coffee were served.

The library at 5541 Lincoln ave. is open Monday ,Wednesday and Friday afternoons from one to five and on Monday evenings from seven to nine. First opened in Cypress 14 years ago with approximately 50 borrowers, the library now boasts 400 borrowers.

UNCLE ISN'T ATLAS

Even if one does not agree with all points made by former President Herbert Hoover in a restatement of his position which re-opened the "great debate" on American foreign policy, what he said merits more than passing consideration.

In particular, we should heed his warning that we cannot carry the weight of our own rearmament along with the cost of civilian expenditures, while also attempting to provide both military and economic aid to virtually every country outside the Communist bloc.

America's financial strength is great, but not boundless. We have already borrowed on the future to the extent of approximately $260 billion and we are now bearing a tax burden that takes one dollar or more out of every three earned.

As much as we may be impressed with our economic achievements we must awake to the fact that we cannot support the world. Nor for that matter can we afford to support every pressure group within our own country that makes its demands for special outlays.

The need is that we revive the spirit of individual independence here in the United States, that we stop giving handouts to our own people and that we not play Santa Claus any longer to peoples abroad. We can still give aid overseas where it is distinctly to our benefit to do so and where such aid is supported by self help of the nation receiving the assistance. But lavish and loose spending under whatever guise must end.

It's no longer a choice; it's a necessity.

I RISE TO REMARK

By JOHN PHILLIPS

The citizen who is struggling to keep his business going, and his family together and out of debt, can grasp the growing costs of federal government from a few figures.

For example, the President, in his message on January 14th, asked for $6,255,000,000 for the single item of interest on the national debt. Not to help pay it off, just to pay interest at a lower rate than most of you business men can get when you yourselves have to borrow.

In 1933 the entire budget of the United States was $4.6 billion. In 1934 it rose to $6.7 billion and in 1935 it was $6.5 billion. Thus, only 20 years ago, the entire cost of the federal government was less than the interest is today on the national debt. This is not a war debt; it includes the peacetime debt. I submit that an increasing national debt, when the states themselves have plus balances, and when the debt is being increased by expenditures which, in 1786 we said belonged to the states, is something for the people at home to think about. In case you are falling for the argument that this is all for defense, or that "we must have the money, mustn't we?" let me give you a couple of examples, out of my own subcommittee this week:

In 1947 we reorganized the housing agencies. We left the Public Housing Authority, the Federal Housing Authority, the Home Loan Bank Board, and the Home Owners Loan Corporation (since liquidated), each with its own authority. Then we set up the Office of the Administrator, instructing him to "coordinate" the other activities. We probably needed a coordinator about as much as one of my Scottish terriers needs two tails, and I've observed over the years that "reorganizations" and "unifications" usually cost us more than the separated agencies cost. Anyway, the first year, 1948, the Administrator's office had 143 employees. This past week, the office has asked my subcommittee for 1472 employees for the coming fiscal year.

As to the current argument that "we must have the money, mustn't we?"—which I hear frequently; I ask "why?" and then give you some figures, which my colleague from New Hampshire, and I, read into the hearing a few days ago. Since then, I've read them in various papers, and I heard them over the air from the mouth of a widely-known commentator whose "predictions" can usually be read some days earlier in the daily papers.

The armed services committee thinks that if the army, the navy and the air force would adopt the simple process of ordering from a common catalog, and using the same descriptions for commonly used items, this would save the taxpayers up to $5 billion a year. Yes, that is 5 BILLION dollars, approximately the same amount as the tax bill last year ($5.6 billion) against which I voted.

Here are examples of buying, from 15 separate catalogs, taken at random: Ordinary 25-watt light bulbs you could buy at the local stores for not over 10c, cost the army engineers 11c, the medical corps 13c, and the signal corps 37c. This is in addition to the costs of the red tape of ordering, which the Hoover Commission described.

A little connector for a radio set costs the signal corps 25c. The navy pays $1 for the same connector.

You could go to a store and buy a carpenter's square for approximately $2.00. I saw a mail order house quotation of $1.97. The army engineers pay $1.48 for it; the transportation corps pays $4.35, and the navy pays $2.00.

For ordinary ten-penny nails, the navy pays 6½ cents a pound; the army engineers pay 8c; the air force pays 12c. A socket for a radio tube, the retail price of which is about 8c, costs the military from 14c to 50c.

These are little items, but they illustrate my point. The savings made by the buying methods of any large industry, would alone have made the tax bill unnecessary.

Again I leave it to the thoughtful men and women in my district whether they like the additional taxes, and whether they think them necessary.

COUNTY COMMENT

By GEORGE E. HART

Approach of the period when candidates for judicial office file notices of intention to run, ahead of other candidate filings, calls attention to the fact that several brand new judicial offices in Orange county will be filled for the first time this year.

Lower court reorganization, effective January 1, reshuffles the 11 justice courts and 13 city courts districts, two of them having the new municipal courts, with increased legal and territorial jurisdiction, and some raise in money jurisdiction, too. The present Class A justice courts of Newport Beach and Anaheim townships will disappear, together with the existing city courts in the 13 incorporated cities.

Candidates for judgeships are first to toss their hats into the political ring, because California law requires them to give advance notice of their intention to be candidates. The regular candidates filing period this year opens March 5 and closes April 5, a month ahead of the June primary. But the candidates for any place on the bench must file notice of intention between February 25 and February 29, inclusive.

While 21 judges are eligible to run for the five judicial district offices, and some attorneys could qualify, the present guess is that there will be from 10 to 12 at the starting line.

Chief interest naturally centers in the new municipal courts for Santa Ana-Orange judicial district and Anaheim-Fullerton judicial district.

Santa Ana-Orange embraces Santa Ana, Orange and Tustin townships, and will consolidate six courts into one, each having a justice court and a city court, and each court with its own judge, except in Tustin where Judge Ralph P. Allen presides over both courts.

How many of these five judges will try for the $9000-a-year judgeship, and how many young lawyers may figure it would increase their prestige and income enough to justify a try for it, remains to be seen.

City Judge Ronald Crookshank and Justice Howard Camron of Santa Ana are definitely condidates. Justice Elwood H. Paddock of Orange, strong in his home community, has been approached but is undecided, while estimating whether the geographical advantage of the Santa Ana candidates, with all that population presumably in their favor, could be surmounted. Not to mention their alphabetical advantage at the top of the ballot.

Judge Allen of Tustin is the only one whose name would be ahead of Crookshank and Cameron on the ballot, a circumstance not to be discounted in any election. But he, too, is undecided.

His geographical disadvantage is greater than Judge Paddock's. Besides, he would have strong competition for the vote of his own community. Judge Crookshank comes from a pioneer Tustin family, was reared there, and figures to have a following there that could be pretty solid, especially with Allen out of it.

Judge Frank E. Hallman of Orange city court is reported as having definitely decided not to run, preferring to retire.

Returning to the subject of young lawyers, there is rumor that Attorney Robert Webb of Santa Ana might be a candidate. Webb ran for a Santa Ana city council seat last spring and was defeated by another attorney, Milford Dahl.

The Anaheim-Fullerton judicial district, which takes in Anaheim, Fullerton and Brea townships, as well as the city courts of Anaheim, Fullerton, Brea, La Habra and Placentia, also will be served by one municipal court.

While that leaves eight judges at loose ends and a $9000 municipal judgeship as bait, only two likely candidates for the municipal court bench are being discussed. They are, naturally, Justice John Shea

Glen McCloud Says

Sometimes you find folks who don't like public schools. There are also those who don't like dill pickles or sauerkraut.

Most of us are one-time students of schools in our district which were built and planned by the sweat of our fathers. Today, schools are turning out better educated boys and girls than ever before and it's costing a bit of money. However, I believe it's well worth it, for educated people will never listen to propaganda from those outside our country who are trying to take us over.

To keep our country safe and strong, we've got to have good schools. I'm for educating our kids well and for giving them all the opportunities this wonderful land of ours provides. However, these good things must be worked for; they don's come as gifts!

Bank Transfer To Be Effective On February 21

Stockholders of The Southern County Bank, with offices in Anaheim, Artesia, El Monte, and Buena Park, have approved the purchase of the bank by Security-First National Bank of Los Angeles, effective at the close of business, February 21, 1952, the two institutions announced jointly following a special stockholders meeting.

R. Foster Lamm, president, pointed out that customers of Southern County Bank will experience no interruption of banking service as Security-First National will operate the four offices as branches of their bank beginning Saturday, February 23.

Relief Load Now Lighter

Fewer people received general home relief in Orange county in December, 1951, than in December, 1950, California Taxpayers' association said today, reviewing general relief trends in California counties.

During December, 1951, 417 people were on the general relief rolls in the county compared with 627 for December, 1950.

For July, 1951, the first month of the present fiscal year, 295 were receiving general home relief in the county, compared with 483 for July, 1950.

Payments in the county for general home relief for the six months July through December, 1951, totalled $41,894 compared with $54,965 for the six months July through December, 1950.

Statewide, the number of people getting general home relief for the first six months of fiscal 1951-52 was lower each month than for the same period of fiscal 1950-51.

For December, 1951, there were 48,713 people on the statewide general relief rolls, compared with 60,649 for December, 1950. For July, 1951, there were 45,573 people on California's rolls, compared with 75,501 for July, 1950.

Statewide payments for general county relief totalled $8,393,733 for the first six months of fiscal 1951-52 (July through December, 1951.)

For the first six months of fiscal 1950-51 (July through December, 1950,) payments for general relief in California's fifty-eight counties totaled $9,647,991.

"Control and administration at the grass roots—close to home—is usually the best way to insure good and economical government," the Taxpayers' association said, pointing out that general home relief is the one kind of direct aid to the needy in California which is still under the direct control of county officials.

1000 Growers Anticipated At Citrus Institute

Present indications point to an attendance of over 1000 growers at the annual Orange County Citrus Institute Friday at Anaheim, says A. Eidelson, chairman of the Citrus Growers Department of the Farm Bureau. Citrus growers from all parts of Orange County and neighboring counties are setting aside the day for appraisal of the citrus industry present and future, and getting up to date on new developments in orchard culture and management.

Industry leaders and research men dealing with citrus problems will report to Orange County growers during the all day session which opens at 9:30 a.m. at the Anaheim high school auditorium, 811 West Center Street, Anaheim.

St. Pius Church Plans Washington Birthday Dance

POWER POINTER Kite flying is fun—when you play it safe!

Kite flying is great sport—and has been since days of ancient peoples. It is one of the few sports that has come down through the centuries virtually unchanged. The world has changed some, though—so these days there are some new rules to remember when you fly your kites. Play it safe, and follow the four rules:

1. Fly kites in an open field, away from electric power lines and other overhead obstructions.
2. Be sure the string is perfectly dry.
3. Never use wire, tinsel or metallic string.
4. If the kite catches in a power line, let go immediately. Don't pull! Phone the company owning the line and a lineman will get your kite for you.

Sixth Graders Get Lecture At Observatory

Last Saturday morning Mr. Martin's sixth grade class took their trip to Griffith observatory. The main purpose of the trip was to see and hear a lecture about the stars.

On the way to the observatory we went through a tunnel. When we arrived we spent some time looking out over Los Angeles.

We then went into the hall of science where we saw many interesting things. Soon the theater was opened for the lecture on the stars. This part of our trip was the most interesting.

The observatory had a machine that could make a picture of the stars on the ceiling of the theatre. One felt as if he were outside at night. On the way back we ate our lunch in Griffith Park. Everyone had a good time.

Cypress School Skating Party

February 7 Mr. Visel's seventh grade planned a skating party. There was a committee of five to plan it: Margie Zwart, Susan Lukens, Betty Van Dalsen, Barbara Rodriguez and Virginia Rodriguez. We planned what cars were going and what people were going in them. There were not over five people in each car.

We invited Mr. Ames' seventh grade to go with us. The party was at Buena Park rink from 7:30 'till 10:30. There were about 60 people there. We had lots of fun.

BRIEFS

Friday, February 22 is a state holiday. School will be closed on that day, Miss Elizabeth Dickerson, superintendent, has announced.

Six new students entered Cypress elementary school when it reconvened on Wednesday, February 13, following a four-day holiday.

Room winners in last week's bank contest were as follows: Mrs. Glover's in the primary, Mrs. Rutledge's in the intermediate, and Mrs. Arnold's in the upper grades.

Visitors at the Theodore Priddy home at 5681 Saint Ann ave. this week were his cousin and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stenicka of Milwaukee, Wisconsin and his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Priddy of Waukegan, Illinois, who are vacationing in southern California. They were accompanied to Knott's Berry Farm on Sunday by Mrs. Ted Priddy and Priddy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Malvern Blake of Long Beach.

BIRTHDAY PARTY FOR LINDA ROSS

In honor of her ninth birthday, Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Ross of 5531 Saint Ann ave., presented their daughter Linda Anne with a delightful party on February 12.

Ice cream, cake, punch and cups with candy were served.

Coming from Los Angeles for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Ross, Sr., her grandparents and Mrs. William Lawler, a great aunt. From Buena Park came Mrs. Richard Harding, aunt and her children, Richard and June. Playmates present to help Linda play games and have fun were Vivian and Mary Jo Stumpf, Mary Lou Sedia and Cynthia Canfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Colvin and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Greenhaw, were at Torrance with their son and brother, the E. W. Colvin family. The occasion noted the birthday of Mrs. Greenhaw.

Rick Townswick received a telegram Monday morning which called him to the bedside of his mother, Mrs. Mamie Townswick, in Story City, Iowa. He was taken to the train in Los Angeles by his cousin and house mate, Ed Hermansen.

Miss Marian Hammond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Fender, is attending Long Beach State college. She transferred from Redlands University.

Again, the race is shaped by geographical circumstances. Shea and Verry live in the two largest population centers. It is not believed likely that Justice A. C. Early of Brea township or any of the city judges will mix into the slam-bang inter-city contest.

But the smaller cities and the populous unincorporated communities like Buena Park, Garden Grove, Cypress, Stanton and Yorba Linda, while not able to elect their own candidates, probably will say who does get it.

The three justice courts will be in districts along the coast. Seal Beach and Huntington Beach townships will consolidate, and it looks like a wide open contest between Elmer J. Hughes, who is judge of both courts in Seal Beach, and Justice C. P. Pann and City Judge Celia W. Young of Huntington Beach, only woman on the bench in Orange county.

Justice Donald J. Dodge of Costa Mesa is expected to have no opposition in Newport Beach district, only one not consolidated with other territory. It gains three voting precincts from Santa Ana township, however. City Judge Frank Linell of Newport Beach, only other judge in the district, will run for congress.

Laguna Beach-San Juan township consolidation into one district brings Judge C. C. "Gavvy" Cravath, boss of both courts at Laguna Beach, up against Justice Marco Forester of San Juan Capistrano and City Judge Neal Vander Ziel of San Clemente, should they decide to run, which has not yet been disclosed. Cravath has the population advantage, as well as alphabetical.

Up in superior court there is only one seat to be filled this year, that occupied by Judge Kenneth E. Morrison. And since Judge Morrison plans to run again, that settles that. No others need apply.

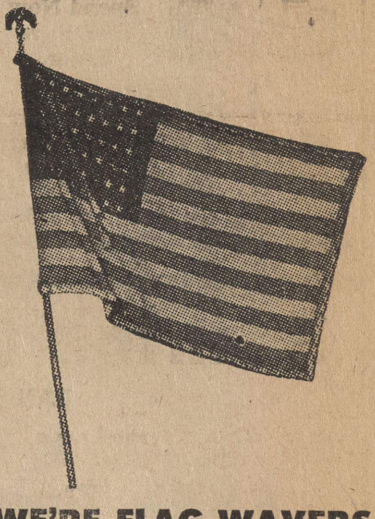
IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE



WE'RE FLAG WAVERS

A great American patriot once confessed, "Sure I'm a flag waver! Can you show me a better flag to wave?"

That's how the men who belong to the Veterans of Foreign Wars feel about their country—and we don't care a damn about the wisecracks of the smart alecks.

Being overseas veterans, we're not self-conscious when our patriotism shows. On the contrary, we believe it's high time to teach the youngsters of today there's nothing corny about waving the Stars and Stripes every chance you get.

That's why we are always promoting patriotic programs — the kind that will help our kids understand what a great country America is.

Sure, we're flag wavers, and we're proud of it. And that explains why those who understand the purpose of our flag waving never fail to say—

"THE V.F.W. IS A GOOD OUTFIT"

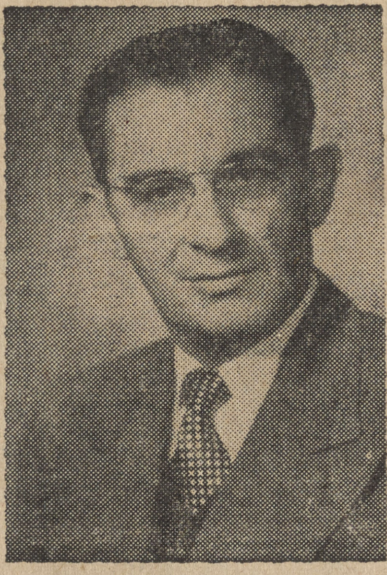
Grand Master Of IOOF Lodge To Visit Here

Cypress IOOF Lodge No. 77 will be host to Gene J. Bianchi, California grand master, when he visits here Tuesday, March 11.

It is a signal honor for the youngest lodge in Orange county and perhaps the youngest in the state to be visited by the head of the order in the state. Because the regular meeting place is inadequate to house a large group, the meeting will be held at the schoolhouse. It is expected that delegations will attend from the other eight lodges in the county and from lodges in the surrounding area.

Grand aMster Bianchi will address the group during the lodge session. It is also planned to make this "Round up" time for March.



Gene J. Bianchi
Grand Master, Calif. IOOF

This feature attraction originated with the Orange county lodges. Members from all lodges send delegations which bring pies and cakes for refreshments. The host lodge furnishes coffee, tea or milk and everyone enjoys a "fun night."

Elmer Corby and John Thomas have been appointed as a committee to entertain the honored guest during his stay here. Dinner at Knott's Berry Farm is planned for the party.

GRAVESIDE RITES FOR SERVICEMAN KILLED IN ACTION

Cypress VFW Post 9847 was in charge of graveside military services last Friday at Loma Vista Memorial park for Corporal Dean Mortimer. The soldier was killed in Korea on December first.

He is the son of Mrs. Roy Booher, 8752 Miller road. Other survivors are his father, three brothers and a sister.

Members of the Cypress post and auxiliary attended the last rites to honor the deceased hero.

NOTICE

Will the party driving the two-tone Buick who passed the accident at 8861 Moody street about 4:30 p.m. Thursday, February 7, contact Haskell Kelley?

Schedule Block Wardens' School

Preston Allen, head block warden of the Civil Defense set-up in Cypress, attended a meeting in Santa Ana recently, in which it was announced that a school for block wardens was in the making. Three colleges will participate—Santa Ana and Fullerton junior colleges and Orange Coast college at Costa Mesa.

It was explained that the course would be set up like a night school subject, with wardens required to attend two hours a night for two nights a week, over an eight-week period.

Although this first series of training will be more or less an experiment on a voluntary basis, all block wardens will be required to take the course sooner or later, Allen explained.

Courtesy Night For Rebekahs

Special guests from the eight other lodges in this district are expected when the Cypress Busy Bee Rebekah lodge holds courtesy night February 19. Plans were completed at the first meeting presided over by the new noble grand, Mrs. Vickie Milbourn. The affair will be held at the school house.

Nine members attended a school of installation for District No. 50 in Fullerton. They were Mmes. Katherine Thomas, Christine Cardin, Thelma Essex, Bessie McCoy, Ethel Cleveland, Evie Junker, Agnes Konig, Doris Coakley and Mrs. Milbourn.

A good fellowship night was announced for February 23 in San Diego. Two buses will be chartered from the district.

Nazarene's "Youth Week"

Young people of the Cypress Church of the Nazarene will embark upon a youth week, beginning next Sunday. Featured will be Lt. Commander Cecil Ewell, staff chaplain of the Los Angeles naval base, formerly a chaplain with the eleventh naval district.

Chaplain Ewell will speak during the morning Sunday school hour, worship service, and again in the evening for the combined youth services and at the evening service. Also present will be a group of students from Pasadena college. They will bring special music to the morning and evening sessions.

The meetings will continue Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings at 7:30 o'clock. Chaplain Ewell was in the service from 1942 to 1946, being overseas 22 months. He was pressed back into service last month.

Teen-agers and the young married couples' group will go to Forest home near Redlands on Friday, staying overnight. The Rev. Carlson Ponsford of Long Beach will speak following a play-day in the snow.

Micro-Waves Explained To Kiwanis Club

How telephone conversations and television are sent from coast to coast by means of one of science's latest developments, micro-waves, was demonstrated to members of the Cypress Kiwanis club and their wives Monday night in the school house.

Walter Strebel, a representative of the Los Angeles headquarters of Pacific telephone and telegraph, brought out an elaborate array of equipment to use in demonstrating his talk.

He traced the development of the telephone from its early beginning, with one of the earliest models on display, and concluded by showing a receiving and sending set for micro-waves.

Special Night

It was a special night for the club members, with valentines for the wives. Each member gave his guest a valentine, after which she was asked to read it publicly.

A district meeting for February 21 was announced, which will be at Knott's Berry Farm. It was voted to hold a round table at the regular time next week.

Tickets will be sold immediately by the local club for the annual Kiwanis cripple children's baseball game between the American all-stars and the Hollywood all-stars March 16. Part of the proceeds will go to the Cypress club, with the rest being used to support the work being done for crippled children.

Haskell Kelley was program chairman.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Corby were in Bakersfield Sunday to attend baptismal services for their two grandsons, Kenny and Tommy, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Brenneman. The rites were performed in the First Baptist church.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank the people of Cypress for the purchase and installation of the resuscitator and the Cypress Volunteer Fire department for its prompt and efficient use when our little son, John Lorin, was stricken with convulsions. He is now back to normal health and at play as usual. This thanks is sincere and from our hearts.

Mr. and Mrs. John Southfield.

Mrs. Bea Hahn will be an employee of the new department store in Lakewood when it opens next week, in the restaurant.
